Keewatin Plays Lead Role in Securing Crown Land Deal

Keewatin Windpower Corp. (OTCBB: KWPW), Vancouver, B.C., is pleased to announce that Sky Harvest has signed a letter of intent for research and development of wind power on over 15,000 acres of Crown agricultural land in southern Saskatchewan.

In March 2007, Keewatin Windpower Corp. announced that it had entered into an agreement with Sky Harvest Windpower Corp., a private Canadian company, whereby Keewatin will acquire all of its issued and outstanding share capital.

Keewatin played the lead role in negotiating the terms of the permit and also has acquired and reserved the funds for all pre-development work on the site.

The Crown agricultural land under permit is within the Matador Community Pasture, used by local residents for cattle grazing. Keewatin has had a study tower in the area, on private land adjacent to the Matador Pasture for over 20 months.

Mr. Craddock, C.E.O of Keewatin says, "We know the potential of the resource from our own data. Further data and environmental study is required to plan a wind power facility. A key quality of this site is direct access to transmission which bisects the property."

Al Syhlonyk, Director, Crown Lands Branch of Saskatchewan Agriculture and Food says, "We see a significant opportunity for agricultural land to co-exist with renewable energy production."

Keewatin Windpower Corp. is committed to the development of wind power in areas of high quality resource potential with minimal impact on the environment and residents of the area.
